

AIPi – Associazione Italiana Progettisti d'interni – interior designers

1° International Interior Designers Award

2008/09 “Living X Two”

The aim of AIPi, the Italian association of interior designers, is to institutionalise, identify and reappraise the figure of the interior designer. Through this competition, we want to highlight the cultural, creative and technical qualities of the interior designer whose task it is to:

Identify, research and creatively resolve problems relating to the function of the interior.

Carry out services relating to interiors that include programming, drawing up the project, taking care of the aesthetics and inspection of the work and using his or her practical skills and specialised knowledge of the creation of interiors, building systems and components, building regulations, equipment, materials and furnishings.

Prepare the drawings and documents regarding the project for the interior space.

Improve the quality of life and protect the health, safety and well-being of the public.

(This document was adopted by the General Assembly of the I.F.I in Hamburg in May 1983 and was reconfirmed in the ECIA Assembly in 1992. AIPi is a founding member of ECIA).

Art. 1 Theme of the competition (2008/09)

This year's theme “Living x two” involves drawing up a project of a living space to be developed over a surface area of maximum 70,00 square metres as a home for two adults who work outside the home. These could be:

A married couple

An unmarried couple

Two friends

Two people living together for financial reasons

Projects on two levels can be presented.

The theme of the competition fits in with the great social, religious, ethical and technological changes that have changed the way we live over the past decades.

Designers are invited:

To pay careful attention to the new relationships between the individual, the living area and the space and the conditioning determined by computerization that has changed, directly or indirectly, the way we live at home

To give significance to the living area created and furnished. This can be achieved through creativity, the use of new technology and new materials which should be sustainable and ‘green’, in harmony with the context of what you want to express.

To ensure that the project respects all the regulations regarding suitability for handicapped people.
